Take a Look at east east

It is difficult to simply "take a look" at all the aspects of Fairmont East High school. On the surface you could see a school of 1332 students and 98 faculty members, and numerous sports, activities, and classes. But even a graduating senior could not have joined in all the activities, taken every available class, and participated in every possible sport.

To get a better look at East, the Falcon staff went directly to the students and faculty to ask them what they saw when they took a look at East. Nearly 100 forms were given to individuals to write their impressions of the school, and their responses were greatly varied. They ranged from a sentence or two to over a page in length, and from sophomores' first impressions to teachers' thoughts and views.

Kelley Gohlke, a North Unit sophomore wrote, "My first impression of Fairmont East was that it was big!" I see it as a way to make a lot of new friends and have a great time. Teachers are much harder on a person here, but I think that's good because we have to be prepared for a lot of responsibilities later on." Another sophomore, Scott Stewart from North Unit, said simply, "I like it." Matt Markey, a senior of South Unit wrote, "In high school you always have to decide if you are going to conform to what everyone else is doing or be your own person and do what you want to do and what is important in your own life."

The views of most seniors were different from other students because of their anticipation of life after high school. "This school is actually my second home," wrote South Unit senior Beth Zimmer. "The faculty watches over us and protects us for three short years until we are set out on our on, leaving a small impression. The faculty, whether we like it or not, has left an impression on us, too. I long to graduate and yet I, along with others I'm sure, am afraid of what is outside the doors of Fairmont East." Mike Dunn, a North Unit senior, felt the same. He wrote, "Our first reaction is a feeling of freedom— finally getting out. On the other hand, when we get a chance to really think about it, leaving the security of Fairmont East is really frightening. We are now on our own." Jody Smallwood, also a North Unit senior wrote, "The yardstick I use to measure the value of the past three years is the quality of experiences and friendships developed here."

Mr. James Probasco, who has been the director of the Fairmont East marching band for the past eight years wrote, "As I take a look at the past eight years I realize that each year has improved on the one before. Somehow during the course of these past years, the Marching Falcons ceased being "just another marching band" and developed a personality all its own." Mr. Paul Palumbo, civics and world history teacher wrote, "When you take a look at East you see cleanliness, pride and an environment for learning and fun. East exudes an aura of enthusiasm and effort; it enhances learning and an affection for the school. Working here is a pleasure; I wish all students and teachers everywhere could be so lucky." "The East attitude! Top Draw!" was all Mr. Herb Hetzer, concert band director, wrote. Mrs. Rosemarie Brooks, South Unit secretary, shared her feelings about East, which touched on many aspects of the school, and which may not have been visible to everyone. She wrote,

"I see 1300 pairs of eyes in a kaleidoscope of colors, various shades and hues, some smiling, some sad, not knowing that this is the best time of their lives— or should be.

"I see the greater part of the faculty and administrators endeavoring to lay the pathway of enlightenment and fulfillment for them, both through instruction and human kindness.

"I see only a few, thank God, young persons who cannot take advantage of the enrichment of their studies because the rumblings of an empty stomach are louder than the teacher's voice. Or, possibly, they are recalling the deafening shouts of a family argument the night before.

"I see closed mouths and crying hearts of young adults who are without the benefit of love from both parents, because of society's unwillingness to accept responsibilities.

"I hear, though unspoken, cries for touching and caring words — a need for attention, friendship, and acceptance.

"I see laughter and warmth from the majority of students and faculty at Fairmont East.

"I see an environment of basic fairness where students and faculty are credited for their accomplishments.

"I see, for the most part, healthy, well-rounded individuals (individuals—that's the key) each with various likes and dislikes and striving to reach an ultimate goal of achievement.

"I see, very unfortunately, a panorama of life which was impossible to envision at the age of 16."

There were approximately 25 activities for students to become involved in at East. When we took a look at these activities, we saw a wide variety of clubs ranging from Computer/Math Club to Ski Club.

But student activities included much more than clubs. The three plays put on at East each year were, as always, very popular with the students.

Dances, too, were an important part of student life at East. There were five dances, including only the second year for the Father/Daughter dance.

Other activities included student government, Spirit Week, marching band, Debs, and cheerleading.

What was clearly visible when taking a look at East's activities, was that there was something for just about everybody who wanted to get involved.

Homecoming success due to variety of events

The many different events that were a part of the 1981 Homecoming week provided enough variety and entertainment to please everybody. Every activity, from the amoeba race to the parade down Powhatten, created excitement that continued to build toward the main event of the week, the football game against Wayne and the crowning of the queen.

For the first time the sophomore girls were involved in the playoffs for the annual powder puff football game. The sophomores competed against the juniors, and the juniors emerged victorious.

They played the senior girls. Once again, the seniors won. The "Dubs" performed some of their favorite steps and high kicks for the players and spectators during halftime. After the game, Mel Brooks' "Young Frankenstein" was shown in the auditorium.

Various teams participated in the obstacle race. They were required to perform such stunts as amoeba races, the snake, and clench a wench.

The traditional parade followed on Thursday. The cheerleaders from Kennedy and Indian Riffle, along with the Fairmont East cheerleaders, band, and Debs, marched down Powhatten toward the bonfire.

Before the bonfire was lit, the Homecoming court, consisting of Marcie Yamano, Andrea Gravel, Cheryl Calhoun, Holly Nill, Kelly Moyer, Chris Schafer, and Debbie Oexmann, were presented to the student body.

The cheerleaders, band, and Debs performed their cheers and routines while Nathan Smallwood and Mike Meyer ignited the bonfire. The evening ended with a tugoff between the sophomores, juniors, and seniors.

Friday evening, before the start of the game, the court and their escorts were introduced to the spectators. Cheryl Calhoun was named as the 1981 Homecoming queen.

After the coronation of the queen, a close game began between the Fighting Falcons and the Wayne Warriors; however, the Falcons lost by a score of 15-14.

Homecoming week ended Saturday night with the semi-formal dance, "Lost in Paradise". The dance was held in the school cafeteria. Couples danced to the sounds of the Kim Kelly Orchestra.

South wins spirit contest; Falcon unveiled

South Unit, made up as a funeral parlor, was the winner of the Spirit Week decorating contest. A funeral service complete with a casket and chairs was staged. This marked the first time South Unit has won the contest, and it greatly boosted the student spirit. North Unit was made into a hospital and Central Unit was a carnival.

"Falcon Fever" was the theme and everyone seemed to have caught it. The week was filled with such events as Clash Day, Army Day, Twin Day, Costume Day, and Red and Blue Day.

The Mr. and Miss Irresistible Contest was won by Lee Graf and Cathy Souders. Awards were given at the pep assembly on Friday.

The week ended with the climatic football game against Fairmont West and the unveiling of the new school mascot. Sophomore John Paget was chosen to wear the Freddie Falcon suit. Last year, $1500 was raised to buy the new costume.

'Fall Showcase' has something for everyone

Something for everyone was indeed the case in the 1981 Fall Play. Instead of following the usual practice for a play, Mrs. Arlene Akerman took cuttings from three different plays and turned them into one production.

Excerpts from "Mid Summer's Night Dream," "The Effect of Gamma Rays on Man in the Moon Marigolds," and "Life with Father" were combined into the Fall Showcase. Each story was unique and the actors received much acclaim from the audience.

The large student turnout was accredited to the appeal of the play. "Everyone should enjoy at least one of the cuttings if not all three," stated Mrs. Akerman.

Christmas dance attendance largest ever

The theme for the 1981 Christmas Dance was "An Old Fashioned Christmas." The dance was sponsored by the Senior Class Council, who had several weeks of planning and preparation for the dance to be as successful as it was.

"An Old Fashioned Christmas" was the largest Christmas dance ever attended by Fairmont East students. There were many reasons for this success.

Santa Claus made a surprise appearance, passing out candy canes to all the couples. Mark Reeder and Teresa Whitehead were chosen as Mr. and Mrs. Claus by an all school vote.

Entertainment for the dance was provided by Mr. Chuck Hipple with a D.J. type set-up. Instead of the usual live band, Mr. Hipple's equipment consisted of albums and tapes. It seemed to be well received with the students attending.

Each couple was asked to bring a small gift. These gifts were later donated to the Dayton Children's Psychiatric Hospital.

'Little Boy Found' presented by junior class

"Little Boy Found" made its second East appearance as the Winter Play.

Mr. Robert Riley originally wrote 'Little Boy Found' for East in 1973. His reasons for updating the play to be used were that it was humerous, contemporary, and touching in parts which make up a successful high school play.

The play in 1973 was dedicated to Mr. Charles L. Nolan, the founding principal of Fairmont East High School. This year he rededicated it to Mr. Riley's father and mother.

The cast consisted of 30 members. The leads were played by Dirk Doebereiner, Dave Roberts, Sue Gleadall, Traci Pratt, and Donna Murray. Skipper was portrayed by Chris and Jeff McManus from J.E. Prass Elementary School.

Student directors were Ben Buehrer, Alicia Rickman, Kathy Holder, and Jackie Maas.

'The Sound of Music' draws a big crowd

"The Sound of Music" was sold out, or almost sold out, long before the performances. Fairmont East hasn't had that kind of attendance at a musical in several years. The show is very well known, as it is one of the famous Rodger's and Hammerstein's greatest musicals.

The story is about a young woman, Maria, who lives in an abbey, but just doesn't fit in. After a conference with some of the other nuns, the Mother Abbess sends her to the home of Captain VonTrapp, a widower.

Maria is to be the new governess for his seven children for a few months. During her stay she falls in love with the captain and eventually marries him.

When, shortly after their marriage, he is summoned to command a ship for the Third Reich, the family is forced to make a decision about which side they will be on. In the last scene they flee, over the mountains into Switzerland with the help of the nuns at the abbey.

Mrs. Madonna W. Goss was in charge of the entire production. Mrs. Martha L. Cox directed the orchestra. Mrs. Donna Lee Clark did all of the dance choreography. Mr. Neal Charske and Mr. Tom Adams constructed the sets.

The leads in "The Sound of Music" were double cast with John Haley and Dirk Doeberiener as Captain VonTrapp; Christie Hartle and Kellie Johnson as Maria; Traci Pratt and Beth Hildebrand as the Mother Abbess; and Todd Armstrong and Jerry Trisel as Max.

Other lead roles were played by Sherry Morgan, Rona Effinger, Jay Noble, Sharon Hensley, Lauren Phelps, Mary Turner, Angie Rish, Greg Reichel, Rob Drozd, Amy Andrews, Howard Miller, Nita Scott, and David Skinner. The VonTrapp children were protrayed by Kim Hari, Stephen Shannon, Michelle Anderson, Scott Caldwell, Megan Collier, and Beth Morgan, who are all from nearby elementary schools.

'Through the Years' theme for '82 prom

"Through the Years" was the theme chosen for the 1982 Prom. Prom was held at the Kennedy Union at UD for the fourth straight year.

Clover provided the music for the dance. There was no formal after-prom held; however, many people had private parties and gathered at different places throughout the evening.

T.J. Porterfield and Debbie Oexmann were selected as the 1982 Prom King and Queen. Also on the court were Chris Scafer, Holly Nill, Cheryl Calhoun, Shelly Combs, John Banke, Chris Decker, Stu Atwater, and Mark Kussmann.

Diplomas presented to 454 at Graduation

The commencement ceremony for the class of 1982 took place at UD Arena on June 2. There were 454 students who received diplomas. They were the eighteenth graduating class of Fairmont East. Julie Gabbard, Lynn Nash, and Jody Smallwood were the valedictorians with 4.000 grade point averages. Stuart Atwater was the salutatorian with a 3.960 average.

The invocation was given by Margaret Paget. Speeches were presented by Alicia Rickman, Jeff Winslow, Sue Gleadall, and Wendy Hutchinson. A vocal ensemble consisting of Todd Armstrong, Kim Burnette, Laura Cradic, Steve Good, Mark Harrell, Sharon Hensley, Don Howell, George Karris, Cherice Mitchell, DeAnn Rogers, and Julie Ward sang "If Only You Believe".

Myoungnam Kim performed "Etude in C Minor, Opus 10 No. 12" on the piano. Nita Scott and John Haley performed a vocal duet of "Out Here on My Own."

Students enjoy time away from classroom

Away from the scholastic atmosphere of the East campus, students were found enjoying many unique and exciting activities. During the school day though, students took a break from their studies to relax.

Unit lobbies, the cafeteria, and the quadrangle provided a place to relax and have fun. Frisbees and sack lunches appeared in the quadrangle during lunch period when the weather permitted.

Participation in sports and involvement in other extra-curricular activities occupied students time before and after school hours. The time of some students was occupied with detentions and Saturday schools.

Although not quite anyone's idea of relaxation, but a pleasant break from schoolwork, part-time jobs busied many students after school and on weekends. Jobs, among other things, gave students extra money, most of which was saved for college or a car.

Spring break, as every year, provided a chance for East students to get away from Kettering. Florida was the most popular choice as an escape from the cold Ohio snow.

Concerts were popular events to attend, if only to get a T-shirt. From Ozzy Osbourne to Loverboy to Chuck Mangione, students interest in music seemed to grow.

Movies also provided entertainment for students. Whether at the drive-in or at one of Beaver Valley's six theaters, students didn't miss the comedy of "Porky's" or the excitement of "Raiders of the Lost Ark" or the sensitive "On Golden Pond."

No night out, whether on a date or with friends, was finished without food. Students favorite restuarants were inevitably fast food and pizza places. McDonald's, Taco Bell, and Mr. Gatti's were the choices of many students to relieve the munchies.

Any reason was a good reason to celebrate and no occasion got by without a party. Toga parties, beach parties, and "come as you are" parties allowed students to relax and have a good time.

The popularity of designer jeans and preppy clothes continued around East. Izod sweaters, Calvin Klein jeans, and topsider shoes prevailed upon the East campus, as did Levi's, concert T-shirts, and Nikes with decorated shoelaces.

As soon as the 3:00 bell rang each day East students never failed to use their imagination in finding ways to have a good time.

Long hours behind the scenes planning and organizing the activities for the promotion of student involvement, began this year's activities for the Associated Student Body. Like past years, many summer nights were spent to build the float that won the Queen's Award in the Holiday-at-Home Labor Day Parade.

The beginning of the 1982 school year required extensive planning for the sophomore orientation, the Homecoming parade, bonfire, and dance, and the Thanksgiving food drive. In the middle of the year ASB took its ideas and made them into realities. They sponsored the Christmas card mailboxes, Valentine Day candygrams, and spring carnation sale.

ASB members tried to succeed by the theme "Success Through Involvement." Through involvement in sports, clubs, and academic activities, students met new people, collected new ideas, decided personal interests, and expressed their individual personalities.

ASB members learned to be individuals thru their dedication and involvement in their work and duties, and they were taught the value of time when dealing with deadlines for activities.

NHS shares Christmas with OSSO children

The National Honor Society upheld its yearly tradition of having a Christmas party for the children of the Ohio Soldiers and Sailors Home. The party, held in East's cafeteria, was the highlight of NHS's year.

After dinner, the children tore into their Christmas presents. They were brought by NHS members and delivered by Santa Claus, alias Mr. Larry McVey.

When the excitement of opening presents dies down, the children and NHS members were entertained by the Falconaires Show Choir and East speech team members. The children had a good time and some special friendships were made.

Induction of Juniors into NHS took place on April 26. Juniors with a grade point average of 3.25 were eligible for induction. Those who were selected to the honorary organization were also chosen on the basis of their character, leadership, and service merit. The traditional ceremony, consisted of speeches given by senior members and the lighting of symbolic candles.

Mrs. Arlene Akerman was given the high honor of being elected a charter member of the Ohio High School Speech League Hall of Fame.

This is an organization established just this year to recognize coaches of speech and debate for their excellence in teaching and coaching.

Mrs. Akerman was one of only three active coaches in a state-wide ballot requiring 60 percent of the votesto be elected.

The speech team had fifteen members who qualified for state competition held in Cincennatti.

Renee Burns received second place in oratorical interpretation and Andrea Durenburg placed fourth in the same category. Rob Drozd placed third in humorous interpretation.

Stuart Atwater was chosen as an outstanding senator at the NFL's Student Congress and attended the National Student Congress held in June at the University of San Francisco.

The exchange student was Heikki Juonala. Heikki was from Finland.

AFS made a float for the Holiday-at-Home parade. It held all the exchange students from the local chapters.

Another major event was the Christmas party with all the language clubs present. Heikki was given a book of Ohio that all the AFS members signed. In February AFS had a booth at International Day.

The officers of the year were Terry Gillespie, president; Gigi Cadic, vice-president; Christy Batson and Sherry Wampler. The staff advisor was Mrs. Melva Bohaning.

FCA and varsity athletes always get involved

Varsity "F" is an organization for the development of unity and pride for varsity-lettered athletes. This club has the following objectives: to motivate interest among letter winners; to raise the standards of athletics at Fairmont East, to promote sound sportsmanship ideas, to assist in responsibility of conducting athletic events, and to sponsor activities which promote a fine school and community relationship.

Members of this club who have met the school requirements will be assisted by members of the coaching staff in selecting the college best suited for the individual.

The executive committee consists of one member, preferably team captain, from each of the 18 interscholastic boys' and girls' sports. The leaders meet and formulate policies, rules, regulations and activities to be presented and voted upon by the members of the Varsity "F" Club.

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes actively takes part in helping others in the community. Meetings, held Thursday nights at 7:30 by advisor Mr. Rusty Clifford, give an opportunity for discussions led by the eight huddle leaders.

FCA sponsored a lift-a-thon in the fall to raise money. The members received pledges, and the money owed was determined by the amount of weights lifted. Food and entertainment were provided afterwards.

The staff of Bethany Lutheran Village invited the FCA members to take part in a Christmas celebration for the people in the home.

During the spring, members volunteered to be "huggers" for the Special Olympics Competition. Their job was to lead the kids to the starting point of the event and to greet the child at the end with love and encouragement.

A sound relationship between the athlete and God is highly encouraged by the fellowship. The Fellowship of Christian Athletes helps athletes understand and use religion in their daily lives. FCA is an organization filled with rewarding experiences.

Latin Club and Spanish Club are two of the

The Latin and Spanish Clubs were two of East's fastest growing language clubs. Both clubs had many activities going on throughout the school year.

Latin Club participated in International Day alongside Spanish Club. Both groups sold food and refreshments. Spanish Club participated in the National Spanish Exam and the Ohio test of achievement.

Latin Club went to the Ohio Junior Classical League convent in Columbus. They also went out to eat at the Athenian and had their annual Roman Toga Party. Both the clubs participated in the language club Christmas Party where they enjoyed plenty of food and fun. The language clubs are anticipating another big year to come and an even larger membership.

Latin Club officers were Jody Smallwood, president; Marie Swink, vice-president; Nita Scott, secretary; and Betsy Young, treasurer. The officers of Spanish Club were Chris Schafer, president; Nathan Smallwood, social chairman; Maria O'Hara, secretary; and Heikki Juanola, treasurer.

Language clubs carol, sell pretzels

French Club had an eventful year, highlighted by the Christmas party. Members sang French Christmas carols in a Kettering neighborhood. A progressive dinner was very succcssful. Students traveled to a different home for each course.

Slides taken by Scott Meir and Judie Artman, two students who recently went to France were shown at the "French fireside chat". The club also was very active in International Day. The year ended with a banquet at L'Auberge French restaurant in Kettering.

German Club sold pretzels to fund their end of the year dinner. These sales were quite successful. They sold them at International Day also.

In October members had a picnic at John Bryant Park. Lots of food was eaten and a soccer game was played. German Club also had a Christmas party in which people ate and had a good time.

Triumph over Centerville highlights ice hockey

The ice hockey team recorded its best season ever. The team posted a record of 20 wins, 6 losses, and one tie.

For the first time in eight years, the team defeated Centerville. The score was 5-4.

East grad Joe Kindelin coached the team. His experience and skill as a hockey player for Bowling Green State University added to his coaching effectiveness. Joe and the players worked well as a team to bring on a successful season.

The last game was a fun one for everyone. The Fairmont team challenged the alumni. Fairmont proved victorious once again with a score of 6-3.

WKET: more than another radio station

They broadcast every school day, morning to night. They joined with fellow disc jockeys from Fairmont West and Alter and formed WKET, the only tri-high school radio station in the Ohio area. But WKET was more than a radio station.

WKET's service to the community distinguished them from any other radio station.

In addition to broadcasting, WKET provided disc jockeys for dances and covered the Special Olympics Marathon. For the first year, WKET sponsored a St. Patrick's Day Party at the Kettering Rec Center.

Despite their small size, the Fairmont East WKET staff of Scott Tracy, Mary Bussinger, Theresa Beck, and Mark Haines supplied entertainment for the Kettering area. Besides music, WKET provided interviews, documentaries, news, sports, editorials, and coverage of football and basketball games for their listening audience.

As a part of their music entertainment WKET "lime lighted" area bands in addition to popular bands. Arsenal, Snatch, Emergence, and the Citizens were among area bands which were "lime lighted." Better known bands, like Kansas, Jackson Browne, and the Allman Brothers were also "lime lighted".

On June 21, 1981, 26 Kettering students left on the 34-day Kettering Summer Field Studies trip. Included in the group were eight students from East, seventeen from West and one from Alter. The group traveled in two vans.

Stopping points on the trip included Padre Island Sea Shore, Big Bend National Park, Carlsbad Caverns, Guadalupe Park, White Sands National Monument, and Kilt Park Observatory. The group also visited Bryce and Zion Canyons, the Great Sand Dunes, and Tuscon, Arizona.

FBLA chapter captures sixth in state competition

The Fairmont East chapter of Future Business Leaders of Americe took sixth place in the state of Ohio in the annual competition, which was held on March 19 and 20 at Stouffer's Inn in Dayton.

Pacing East in the competition were David Linville with a second-place finish in Data Processing, and Kim Burnette, who was runner-up in the Miss FBLA division. Also placing for East were Lisa Roberts, third in business communication spelling, and Burnette, fourth in Economics.

The team of Julie Groeber, Bob Rosenberger, and Burnette earned fourth place status in the battle of the chapters. Rosenburger was named Vice-President of the FBLA chapters in District 1.

Serving as advisors for the 1981-1982 FBLA year were Mr. Charles Shoop and Ms. Marjorie Craver. Groeber was elected President, while Matt Markey was Vice-President. Burnette handled the Secretary position, while Jean Nace was Treasurer, and Bessie Gilliam served as club historian.

In what Mr. Shoop called an eventful year, the FBLA engaged in various projects and competitions. Thirteen students attended a regional leaders conference in Milwaukee, Wisconsin from November 12-14. The Kit-n-Kaboodle sales project helped earn money to pay for FBLA costs.

The schedule also contained carefree events, such as a hayride in Mason, Ohio. A pot-luck was held in the cafeteria, followed a month later by a Christmas party in the North Unit. The year ended with the traditional spring banquet held at Alex's Continental Inn.

Ski trip highlights ski season

Ski Club had three separate ski trips to different locations. They were to Mad River Mountain, Snowshoe in West Virginia, and Paoli Peaks in French Lick, Indiana.

The trip to Paoli Peaks was cut short due to the weather. The skiers had a very enjoyable time, anyway.

Ski Club skied at Sugarcreek Ski Hills on Thursday nights. The Skiing was often cancelled because of the weather.

To help pay for the many ski trips, the club sold candy and flower bulbs. This project was very profitable to all who participated. The Ski Club had a pizza party to close out their season.

Girls' clubs encourage teams on to victory

The Hockey Honeys are responsible for keeping stats and scores at the Hockey games. They decoarted the players lockers and made posters for the ice arenas.

Hockey Honeys are made up of girls from both Fairmont East and West. They met twice a month for meetings.

The most important games the girls traveled to were in Cincinnati and Canada. The best game they attended was in Bowling Green's outdoor arena. They sponsored a car wash to earn money for next year. Officers for this year were Tambrey Whitaker, who was captain, and Tina Hess.

The Track Stats kept scores and progress reports at all track and field events. Captain for this year was Lynn Bane. Staff advisor was Coach Neal Charske.

The Soccer Stats kept the scores for the soccer team. Soccerettes stayed busy at the sidelines working to keep the game going.

All the girls were awarded by the coaches at the Fall Sports Banquet.

The soccer team presented each girl with a gift. Captain Mary Hawkins and co-captain Elayna Calhoun worked to make the year a success under the direction of advisor coach Thomas Kokenge.

Dedication key element to successful season

"Through the years the 'Most Exciting Sound Around' has evolved into spirited corps of players and dancers who work long, hard hours to put every seven and a half minute performance on the field": Marching Band Director James Probasco.

To become a member of the marching band, the students had to be willing to sacrifice at least twelve hours each week to practice and perform. But that was the easy part.

Two weeks before school began, over eighty band members practiced thirty hours each week to learn commands, marching rudiments, and dance routines. The success of the marching season depended on the dedication of everyone involved, and their dedication was astounding.

Despite leg cramps, pulled muscles, and blistered feet, enthusiasm started to build through the help of band choreographer Mr. Tom McKee. Tom was a great asset to the band.

Not only did he teach the band basics in marching, but he also formed a dance crew of eight students to compose the dance routines used in each show. Tom's devotion to the band often meant little sleep and little time for himself.

Mr. Probasco himself spent several nights without sleep tyring to think of new and exciting ideas to turn every performance into an extravaganza of entertainment. Although not all of his ideas turned into reality, some of his inspirations made spectacular shows.

No band would be complete without a drum major and feature twirler. Senior Rick Dietrich was chosen to be the drum major. During the summer, Rick spent one week at Smith-Walbridge Drum Major Camp learning rudiments and commands.

For the second year, junior Diane Hough was the feature twirler. Diane practiced hard each week in order to prepare her routine for each performance. Through their combined efforts, Rick and Diane led the band onto the field with style.

In addition to every foofball game, the band participated in several other performances. The band premiered in the Holiday-at-Home Parade and evening show.

They also traveled to Wilmington College for a half-time show at a Wilmington College football game. Journeying to Zanesville, Ohio for the Maysville Band Festival meant an overnight trip for the band, a definite highlight in their season.

Mr. Probasco best summarized what marching band was all about: "Every performance, every rehearsal, and every 'face' that became a friend will be a sparkling gem in our treasure chest of memories."

Miss Tammy Moulin new debutante advisor

Miss Tammy Moulin, a former Debutante, is now going for her master's in child psychology. Besides school and work, Tammy took on the job of being the new Debutante advisor. The position required hard work and time, but most of all patience.

Summer practices started in June and lasted through August. Practices were very hot and tiring. During the last two weeks there were "two-a-day," which lasted six hours a day!

In the middle of July new members of the corps attended camp at Ohio State University in Columbus. They were awarded over 100 individual ribbons and received a spirit stick for the rowdiest group.

In the fall the Debutantes performed at football games and various other events with the marching band. These included Wilmington College, Holiday-at-Home, East-West Band Festival, and the General Motors plant opening.

The biggest event was the Maysville Band Festival, overnight, in Zainsville, Ohio. The band and Debs combined with Maysville Band and danced to "The Greatest American Hero."

During the season the corps used many different props and songs to produce new and exciting shows. Some of the props used were cowboy hats, stools, red and blue umbrellas, and tambourines for the West game.

For their opening performance the Debutantes danced to "Cotton-eyed Joe." "I Love the Rainy nights," was a spectacular show, done with the umbrellas. Other songs that were used were "Feelin 7 Up," "Play That Funky Music," and "Hava-Nagila."

Accompanying Miss Moulin in disciplining the 44 girls were Cheryl Calhoun; captain, Kathy Holder; 1st Lieutenant, Terri Pond; 2nd Lieutenant, and Julie Kiehne; Warrent Officer. The four top officers choreographed all the dances and marching maneuvers through the year.

Additional cheerleaders help build spirit

The number of cheerleaders was ratsed to 32. There were six separate squads: varsity football, varsity soccer, varsity basketball, varsity wrestling, and two junior varsity squads. The soccer and wrestling squads were divided into two squads and a junior varsity squad was added.

During the summer all the cheerleaders attended the NCA Spirit Camp at Wittenburg University. They learned new cheers and many new ideas for their performances during the year.

East was once again chosen as one of the most spirited squads. Also, during the summer, the varsity football and soccer squads took watermelon, kool-aid, pizza, and popsicles to the teams' summer practices.

The varsity and junior varsity basketball squads entered competition for the first time ever at Fairmont East. They gained much experience and came home with many new ideas.

At the beginning of the year, all the cheerleaders took part in money-making projects. They included selling health foods, T-shirts, and car washes.

The night before each East/West event, all the cheerleaders got together and decorated the seniors' houses. The varsity football and basketball squads from East and West had dinner together before the games.

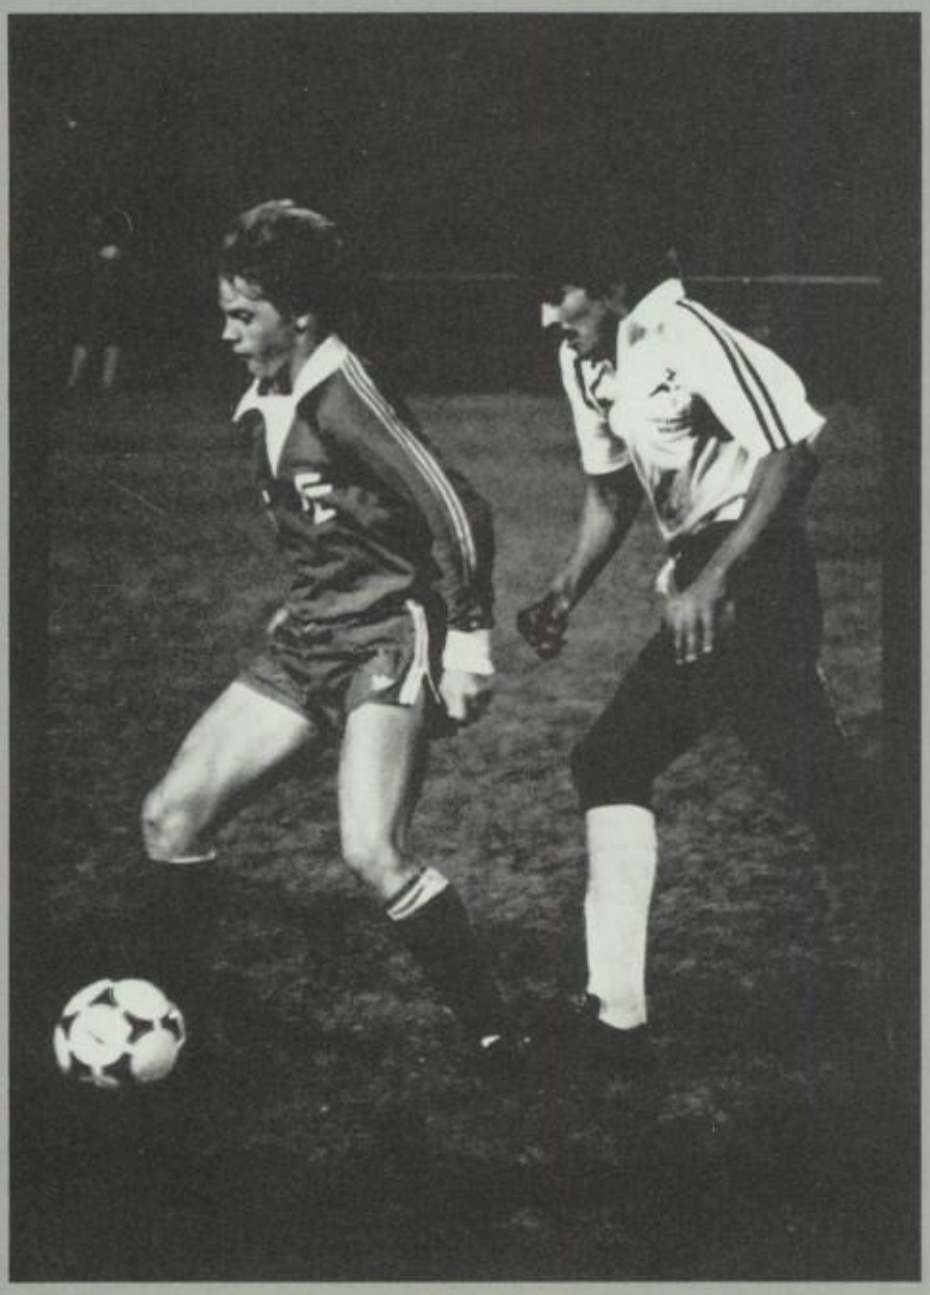
Take a look at East sports



Take a look at East's athletics. You'll be seeing not only athletes, but also coaches, trainers, managers, and fans. Each of these helped to make up East's athletics, and each was dependent on the others.

Even though East had to settle for some disappointments, sports such as field hockey, boys soccer, cross country, volleyball, girls' basketball, and more had triumphant seasons. East was also proud to introduce two new sports — swimming and diving and girls' soccer. Both had successful first years.

True Falcon fans were always supportive and proud of their teams, though the outcome did not always show the Falcons on top. They realized that what made up East's sports was more important than the final results.

Girls', boys' cross country teams go to State

East has had a girls' cross country team for three years, and each of those years the team has qualified for the State meet. This year's team placed fifth. The boys' team also qualified for the State meet, finishing thirteenth.

Placing at State were Andrea Baumer, Chris Schafer, Karen McKelvey, Vickie Boehmer and Kathy Brown. McKelvey and Brown received All-State honors. Placing for the boys were Eric Oglesbee, Mike McManus, Joe Scaglione, Brian Guth and Jeff Marshall.

In addition to finishing fifth in the State meet, the girls won all but one of their meets, including the East Invitational, the WOL and the district.

For the boys finishing thirteenth in the State was a disappointing end to an otherwise successful season. The team won both of its dual meets, the East Invitational, the WOL and the sectional meet. In seven other meets the team placed first five times, second once and third once.

At the fall sports banquet Karen McKelvey received the most improved award and Andrea Baumer was named most valuable. For the boys Eric Oglesbee was named most improved and Brian Guth received the most valuable award.

Next year's co-captains for the girls' team will be Andrea Baumer and Kathy Brown. Co-captains for the boys' team will be Mike McManus and Eric Oglesbee.

Team enthusiasm stays high despite disappointing season

Although his football team finished with a 3-7 record, Coach Rusty Clifford called the 1981 season one of the most enjoyable years he has encountered since arriving at East. Coach Clifford lauded his young club for incredible enthusiasm during the rough going.

East's 7-3 victory over Beavercreek highlighted the year. The spirited crew also triumphed over a tough Xenia squad and upended Springfield North.

The team finished tied for seventh place in the WOL, which includes ten teams. East averaged 7.1 points per game, while their opponents averaged 12 points per game.

Seven players were honored for their achievements on the all-WOL team. Brian Halliwell was named first team as a defensive end. Defensive end Vic Berardi, middle guard Tim Duerr, and linebacker Bruce Shadrach were given honorable mention.

East's offense placed three players on honorable mention: Kevin Culligan at guard, Jeff Lemons at tackle, and Mark Reeder at offensive end.

At the fall sports banquet Duerr was chosen as the squad's most valuable player and Lemons was selected as the top offensive lineman. Reeder was chosen as the best offensive back. Halliwell took top defenisve lineman honors.

Shadrach earned best defensive back laurels. Dan Diaspro was picked as the winner of the spirit award. Mike Dunlevy was named as the most improved player.

The members of the team selected quarterback Doug Brademeyer and halfback John Kenney as co-captains for the 1982 season.

In individual statistics, Kenney led the team in scoring with 24 points, scoring 6 touchdowns. Kenney also topped the rushing charts with 565 yards. Brademeyer was the leading passer, completing 45 passes for 423 yards. Brademeyer's favorite target was Reeder, who had 24 receptions for 244 yards.

On the defensive side, Shadrach's 122 tackles were the most on the squad. Halliwell's three fumble recoveries topped the defense. Diaspro and Barry Hunter shared interception honors with three each.

Team unity key to soccer team's success

The 1981 soccer team recorded its best finish ever before finally losing to state runner-up Centerville in the District semi-finals. This achievement was made through the team's unity.

The highlight of the season came toward the end of the year when the Falcons had to face defending state champions Carroll to stay alive in the tournament. The team got together and met the challenge with one of their best played games of the season to come through with a 3-1 victory.

This team left it's mark in the record books. Included in the many records the team set were: Most wins in a season (11), Most goals in a game (13), Most goals in a season (60), and the best league finish ever, 3rd.

Coach Tim Voegell and the team members won several post season individual honors. Coach Voegell was named the Coach-of-the-year in the south Dayton area.

The Falcons had three players named to the South Dayton area team. Joel Young was named first team, Keith Hutchinson was named second team, and Doug Hurst was named honorable mention.

When the All-League (WOL) team was announced, the Falcons found themselves with five players named to it. Young and Hutchinson were named first team. Hurst and Bob Rielly were named second team, and Gene Fischer was named honorable mention.

First year for girls' soccer proves successful

Although inexperienced, East's first girls' soccer team had a successful season. Because soccer is a relatively new sport in the area, many girls didn't have a lot of soccer background.

They played to the best of their abilities though, and brought home a record to be proud of. The team had a strong defense. As a result of this no team scored more than one goal on them, and they lost only one game.

In spite of three other fall sports, there was a large turn out for soccer. Coach Bill Kramer had a difficult time choosing a team consisting of 24 players.

Because girls' soccer is a new sport at East, it was only a junior varsity team. There were some varsity games in their schedule though.

Next year there will be two teams. They will be playing both junior varsity and varsity schedules. Some of these games will be played at the stadium.

Jean Cashdollar and Karen Lord were co-captains. Because it was a junior varsity sport, no special awards were presented and no Varsity "F" letters were presented.

The team will be losing only six seniors to graduation. They will be leaving behind a very strong team for next year.

Field hockey team makes State finals

Girls' field hockey team had a very good season taking defeat in only two games. Only five teams could score against the Mighty Falcons.

Every team at Fairmont East gets psyched for the biggest game of the year against the cross-town rivals the Fairmont West Dragons, and field hockey was no exception. The girls were quite excited for the game and played hard only to take defeat by one goal.

The girls had 12 wins and 3 losses. After being named District Champions, the girls went on to Ohio Wesleyan to compete in the State tournament. The team made it to the semifinals but lost to tough Hudson.

Falcon fans never fail to give their support to their favorite team. At state the girls had a rowdy crowd to cheer them on.

The golf team had a successful season with an overall season record of 12-3. They placed third in WOL.

In the Dayton sectionals the golf team placed first out of thirteen teams which is a remarkable comeback from last year's fourth place. Sectional medalist was junior Ken Engebretson with a 73.

After placing third in WOL league matches, the team came out tenth out of sixteen teams, in the district.

The seasons highlights included a 151-155 win over Franklin, which was their lowest total that season, and a 168-172 victory over rival West.

At the fall sports banquet Craig Gobich was named most valuable and Ken Engelbretson was named most improved.

Girls' tennis goes to districts for first year

According to Coach Shirley Griffith, "The girls' tennis team had a fairly good season, considering there were only two returning varsity players," — co-captains Holly Nill and Karen Griffith. Unfortunately, though, the team did have a losing season with a 7-9 record overall, but placed sixth in WOL league matches.

The players were inexperienced. None had been exposed to real tournament play as some of the more competitive players had. None of the singles players had played any singles the years before.

All matches were close, especially in the cases of Stebbins and Bellbrook. A winning season could have been gained if these two matches had been won.

Junior Cindy Shroyer, a second singles player, won her first round, but lost her second round to a girl who qualified for districts in the sectionals. It was a landmark in Fairmont East tennis because this was the first year any member has ever made it to districts.

Two seniors, Karen Griffith and Liz Jones did. In Sectionals, they won their first round with Belmont, their second with Alter, and their third with Beavercreek.

The next day they lost to Centerville, the team that qualified for state.

Doug Chestnut advances to Junior Olympics

For the first time Fairmont East boys qualified as a team under OHSAA regulations. To qualify, a school must have at least seven swimmers. Performing as a team entitles the school to compete for state awards.

The coach for the swimming and diving team was Mr. Louis Gabbard, South Unit superviosr. The team consisted of one senior, Patty Norris; five juniors, Doug Chestnut, Karen Herman, Chuck Keish, Greg Webb, and Randy Woods, and three sophomores, Bryan Ferguson, Zeev Gur, and Todd Thuma.

Junior Doug Chestnut came in eighth in the 500-yard freestyle at Southwest District Championships. He is the only East swimmer to advance from the districts. He then qualified for the Junior Olympics held in April.

Team shows improvement but season disappointing

The boys' varsity basketball team consited of three seniors and seven juniors. Seniors John Banke, Mike Dunn and Bob Patterson provided leadership to the young, inexperienced team through a disappointing 3-18 season. The Falcons finished with a 1-9 WOL record.

Senior Mike Dunn and junior Kurt Etter received honorable mention in the WOL. Steve Helton, a junior, led the team with an average of nine points a game. Steve's performance throughout the 1981-82 season made him a top player on the team. Mike Dunn and Barry Hunter both tied with an average of eight points a game.

At the winter sports banquet, Mike Dunn received the award for the most valuable player, while Kurt Etter was named most improved player. Bob Patterson was honored as the best foul shooter.

Girls' basketball team beats number one team

The girls' basketball team ended their regular season play with a 13-7 record. They finished their season with a final record of 16-8, after their loss to Alter in the final round of district competition.

Coach Roger Heinisch felt that the girls played one of the toughest schedules ever. They pushed their way to a tie for fourth place in the Western Ohio League.

Coach Heinisch was pleased with the win over Patterson in the first round of tournament play. He considered it as, "The greatest upset in girls' basketball history at Fairmont East."

Patterson had been rated number one in the state with a record of 70 straight wins. The final score of the Patterson/East game was 44-39.

The Falcons went on in the tournament to beat Beavercreek 41-11, Centerville 39-25, and lost to Alter, 34-31.

The best defensive player of the team was Shelley Suhr. Melissa Ryan was chosen as the most improved player, as well as being highly honored by the area teams and papers.

Annie Kerregan was nominated as the most valuable player and had many other special achievements. Annie set three new records for free throws percentage and the most steals.

Gymnastics team shows improvement

The men's gymnastics team completed a strong season despite its defeats. The team constantly improved, not only over last year's scores, but at each successive meet as well.

Although smaller than last year's team, the combination of Coach Barry Dowling, six returning gymnasts, and two new members helped the team hold its own in the WOL. The team placed fifth.

Injuries came late in the season and kept the team's top all-around gymnast Eric Delphenich from competing in District Competition. The team did quite well dispite this drawback.

The team consisted of two seniors, five juniors, and one sophomore. The most valuable gymnast was Eric Delphenich. Howard Miller was named the most improved.

Falcon diamondmen maintain winning tradition

The 1982 edition of the baseball tram maintained the winning tradition which had been established by earlier squads. The three year record for the seniors was 68-23.

This was a season filled with highlights. The first was Coach Bob Chapman's 250th career victory.

Another highlight was the Falcons thirlling come-from-behind victory over Centerville, for the second year in a row. The Falcons captured the Western Ohio League championship with a record of 8 wins and 1 loss.

The East diamondmen also won the Dayton District AAA championship, with wins over Miamisburg, Lebanon, Beavercreek, and Xenia.

The Falcons were finally eliminated in regional play with a 5-2 loss to Cincinnati Withrow.

Todd North, Mike Dunn, and Steve Helton all received recognition on the WOL All-League team. The leadership of the seven seniors, John Banke, Mike Dunn, Scott Parrott, Todd North, Brad Smith, Ty Walk, and Troy Quinlan, was of great importance to the team.

Girls' softball team wins State Championship

The girls' softball team won the State Championship. In 1978 the girls advanced to the state semi-finals, but came home with a loss after the first game. The mens' gymnastics team, in 1973, captured the only other state title East has ever had.

Early in the season, East won the Princeton Invitational. Soon after, they went undefeated (9-0) in the Western Ohio League to take first place.

In sectionals, the Falcons defeated Alter 12-1 in the first round, Trotwood Madison 11-0 in the second, and Beavercreek 9-3 to go on to the district finals. There they edged by Northmont 6-5.

The regional semi-final was a close game with Greenon (2-1), and East went on to be regional champs by downing Miamisburg. Then it was on to the State Tournament.

The real test came when the Falcons faced Tallmadge, a team from the Akron area who was the defending state champion. East squeaked out a win (1-0). The battle was over when they ran over Westerville North 12-3. All of the team's hard work had finally paid off and the long drive ended victoriously. They couldn't advance any further.

Senior Jean Nace's pitching was a major factor in the Falcons' bid for the State Championship. The ability of Coach Jim Zink was outstanding and he was very deserving of his Coach of the Year Award.

East's track story is juniors and sophomores

East's juniors and sophomores contributed much to the Falcon victories. A strong effort was also made by the team's only seniors, Carl Overholser and co-captain Scott Rogers.

Two individual school records were broken. Junior co-captain Scott Keifer broke his own record in the 300 meter low hurdles with a time of 37.9 seconds. In the long jump, Carl Overholser jumped a record breaking 21'9".

The Falcons were coached by head coach Rusty Clifford and assistent coaches Kathy Cornish and Jondy Hoke.

The most valuable award went to Scott Keifer. The most improved awards went to Eric Oglesbee and Jeff Lemons.

Win over Alter highlights boys' tennis season

East's 3-2 victory over the strong Alter Knights highlighted the tennis season. The falcons finsihed the year with a 10-10 record. The season also included a 5-0 triumph over arch-rival Fairmont West.

The first singles position was held by Todd Armstrong, while Brent Neubauer, a junior, played second singles.

Senior Rick Quigley and sophomore Eric Holder spent most of their time at the first doubles position. Second doubles changed constantly throughout the year.

At the Spring Sports banquet, the members of the squad selected Brent Neubauer as the most valuable player. Dave Dipasquale was chosen as the club's most improved player. Rick Quigley led the team with a 14-6 record.

The coaching duties were handled by Tim Voegeli. Mr. Charles Painter assisted the varsity and also was in charge of the junior varsity team.

Take a look at classes

The most visible change in East's academics was the class size. As the number of students enrolled at East continued to decline, so did the class sizes. This was not necessarily negative, however. Smaller classes resulted in more personalized attention to individual students.

For the fifth year, students were able to self-schedule, choosing the classes they wanted to take, and the periods and teachers they preferred. Students could focus on vocational classes, or college preparatory classes. Although some classes were required for graduation, there were many electives to choose from, both for enjoyment and for educational value.

All of East's academics were definitely worth taking a closer look at.

English department rolls with curriculum changes

In keeping with plans to unite Fairmont East's English curriculum with Fairmont West's, minor changes were made during the 1981-82 school year. Sophomores were offered Major American writers and composition, an enriched course, for the first time. In the 1982-83 year, American Studies, a course combining Americn history and American literature, will be offered to juniors.

Mr. Frank Monturo,English department chairman, said he feels another change in the 1981-82 year was the increased use of periodic literature. Magazines, such as Scope, Current Events, You and Your World, and Read were commonplace in English classrooms throughout East.

The biggest individual accomplishment of the year was senior Margaret Paget's winning of the National Council of English Teachers award for her writing ability. The contest consisted of each participant submitting a sample of his best work and an impromptu essay. Approximately 350 awards were given to winners of the contest, which had over 7000 nominees.

As a treat for his third period class Mr. Robert Riley had two English women visit his class to serve an authentic English tea. Students drank tea served from a sterling silver tea service and ate pasteries, many of which were unfamiliar to them.

The math department was involved in many activities during the 1981-82 school year. In the fall five mathematics classes participated in the Academic Pep Rally. They performed skits along with the other 15 classes that were part of the pep rally.

Throughout the year the computer classes worked to perfect their programs. Besides the usual programs, students could also use the computer to draw pictures, make calculations, produce sounds, and even predict the outcome of football and basketball games.

The computer usually predicted 78 percent of the games correctly. However, this year it only predicted 71 percent of the football games correctly and 76 percent of the basketball games right.

Apart from the regular school assignments, the computer was used to invent a video game. Eric Oglesbee invented the game, "Mauraders," while Mike McManus designed the program for the game.

Towards the end of the year, the mathematics department hosted a contest that was open to the entire school. Thirteen students took the test. They had an hour to complete 10 problems and to try to qualify for the state competition. Schools from all over the state enrolled in this contest. In March a second contest was held that East students competed in.

New additions in the science department

There were many new additions in the science department. Among other things, two biology teachers were added to the science department staff, Mrs. Nancy Klingler and Mr. David Thomas.

Despite the decreasing enrollment in the Kettering School System, the enrollment and interest in science classes increased for both this year and next. Biology and chemistry were the most popular class choices in the science field.

Added to the many science courses already offered was historical geology. Besides teaching chemistry and physical geology, Mr. Dave Brown took responsibility for this new class.

Physics students were provided with the chance to see the Navy Nuclear Energy Exhibit. Some above average science students had the opportunity to tour Monsanto Research Laboritory.

East social studies students solve "murder"

To teach his Urban Studies classes about the process of trial by jury Mr. Tony Armocida recreated a murder trial. Students were chosen to portray the parts of the lawyers and the defendant. The class was the jury.

Before the trial began, the acused wrote down on a piece of paper whether he was guilty or innocent. As the trial progressed and testimony was heard, the students began to form opinions about the defendant. This all led to the outcome of the trial itself.

In her CWI class, Mrs. Frances Edelen took some of her students to the University of Dayton for "United Nations Day." The students held a mock United Nations meeting.

In his sociology classes, Dr. Ronald Helms showed students how man lived thousands of years ago by showing video tapes. Students also studied many different races of the United States and how they work together to make one nation.

Mr. Hal Judd's psychology classes studied different theories on what makes a person unique. They saw the movie "Lisa and David," and read "Dibs." These films dealt with autistic and emotionally disturbed children.

The social studies program sponsored a guest speaker for the entire student body. Mr. Reid Lewis, a school teacher from Illinois, spoke of his LaSalle Expidition II. Lewis and fifteen high school boys and seven teacher-advisors put their canoes into the cold waters of the St. Lawrence River and began an eight-month trek that duplicated as closely as possible LaSalle's journey. East's students overwhelmingly praised Mr. Lewis and all the men on the expidition.

Students also participated in "Youth-in-Government" day. Selected students from East, West and Alter "ran" the city for one day.

Variety of business courses offered at East

There were business courses available for every type of student. Students who wanted a business career could take classes such as record keeping, accounting, clerical typing, shorthand, office practice, business math, and advertising.

Advertising and retail selling gave a student the opportunity to discover if he was interested in a sales career. The courses also prepared students for a career or for college.

For students planning to go to college, personal typing or shorthand would be helpful.

Other courses, such as clerical typing, office practice, record keeping, business math, and shorthand, are geared for students looking for secretarial jobs after graduation.

There were also courses for anyone. Consumer economics, for example, was of special interest to teens about to go out on their own. Business law also offered much in the way of practical information for the consumer.

Second International Day a big success

The second annual International Day, sponsored by the foreign language classes, was held in the cafeteria on February 26. The day featured the food, dance, and crafts of various foreign countries.

Spanish, Latin, German, French, and JCOWA clubs all participated in the festivities. The event was very well attended by both students and faculty alike.

Miss Kim Gorman, chairperson of foreign languages, said that this year was even more successful than last year. International Day again brought much attention to East. It was highly publicized in the local newspapers.

In addition to International Day, the foreign language classes participated in the national exams in their respective fields of study. The classes also took part in the academic pep rally.

Home Economics classes have busy year

The home economics classes were busy with many exciting activities during the year. The opportunity for students to do something a little different from the usual courses is what makes these classes popular with the students.

Child development classes had demonstrations of mothers bathing and showing the proper care for a baby. Speeches were given by each of the students on topics of their interests concerning children. They also took a trip to the elementary schools to observe the kindergarten and first grade.

Advanced foods had a cake decorating contest, which was a great success. The winners of this contest were Mary Riley, Missy Sottoway, Becky Kreitzer, Karen Christianson, and Kim Behnken.

Interior design had a field trip to a furniture store to learn about the different types of furniture. They also had a lady teach them how to make flower bouqets.

Portfolio art has many talented students

Portfolio art, instructed by Mrs. Ann Fahnline, had a full and talented class. The course, which required each student to enter a portfolio of his work to be evaluated, is aimed towards the more talented students.

Students in the class were involved in various activities inside and outside of school. Jean Cashdollar designed the murals and backdrop for this year's Turn-About Dance with help in painting by the other students.

Others participated in an outside contest, submitting different types of artwork for judging. In addition, the students helped throughout the year with various artwork needed for the activities going on at the school.

Industrial Arts classes offer students a skill

The students who were enrolled in any of the industrial arts classes had a great deal going for them. Besides having the opportunity to learn in a relaxed atmosphere, they are also learning a skill that may lead to an occupation.

There are many skills available to the students, ranging from drawing the layout to a building, to wiring a new stereo component, through making furniture for the house, or assembling a car engine.

Each year Fairmont East students, from the industrial arts classes, attend the Ohio Industrial Arts Convention in Columbus with their projects. A number of students attended the convention.

Vocational program offers many opportunities

Sixty-three students were enrolled in the vocational programs at Fairmont West and Centerville. Fifty-two participated in the West program and thirteen students were enrolled in classes at Centerville.

The programs offered in the West program included auto mechanics, Driversified Health Occupations, Intensive Office Education and graphic communications. Law enforcement, radio broadcasting, supervisory and administrative management and stenography were offered at Centerville.

Juniors and seniors are eligible for the vocational programs. Most programs take two years to complete.

The graphic communications class was responsible for much of the school system's printing. Among their projects were printing the West school newspaper and the program for East's musical.

COE, DE students gain valuable work experience

The Cooperative Office Education program provided students with a chance to earn school credit and make money at the same time. Students went to school half a day and worked in office occupations half a day.

They marked the end of the year with a banquet for their employers, the business teachers, and administrators at Alex's Continental Inn. Their advisor is Mr. William Jackson.

Distributive Education students also go to school part of the day and work part of the day in retail positions, gaining work experience.

Their banquet was held at the Stockyards Inn. The giving out of awards was the highlight of their special day. Mrs. Marty Adler, their advisor, said the luncheon was a complete success.

Diversified Cooperative Training (DCT) and Occupational Work Experience (OWE) are both part of the work-study program offered at Fairmont East. Both programs allowed the students to go to school a half day and work a half day, for which they received a credit.

DCT students worked in many skilled trades and professions. OWE students gained work experience in non-skilled occupations. Both programs gave the participating students a chance to gain the experience needed to prepare them for the future.

Community Service rewarding, educational

The Community Service program of 1981-1982 was again coordinated by Mr. Ellis Miller for the fifth year in a row. Mr. Miller said he enjoyed working with students who volunteer their time for the benefit of the community.

Students who participated in the program gained much rewarding and educational experience. Many used the program as a career-exploration opportunity.

Through first-hand experience, students decided if they were really interested in a particular career. Some found that they were headed in the right direction.

Those who participated in the program worked in many places throughout the community. They included the Developmental Center, Rosewood Elementary School, and the Kettering Medical Center.

Students gained experience in working with people who were younger than or less fortunate than they. They gained a better perspective on their own lives.

PE classes offer students many sports

Physical education classes provide students many opportunities. Students can choose from a wide selection of activities and sign up for the ones that they like best.

Students got to expand their knowledge and coordination in different sports and various activities. Some of the sports were volleyball, gymnastics, and basketball.

and Falconaires

Among the many concerts given by the Concert Choir and the Falconaires were clinics and exchanges with other schools, including Centerville, Trotwood, and Wilmington. The students in both choirs enjoyed meeting each other and doing numbers together. It was also an excellent chance for them to work with a professional clinician.

Concert Choir had a good year with many concerts. A group from the fourth period Concert Choir traveled to Austria during spring break.. They, too, had a "clinic" with students from other countries, and enjoyed learning foreign songs as well as sharing theirs.

Orchestra has many outstanding members

Many members of the orchestra were involved in other orchestras in the area. Judy Cox took part in the Dayton Philharmonic, Wright State Community, and the Charleston, West Virginia Orchestras.

Liz Jones was in the Ohio All-State, Southwest Regional, and the Junior Dayton Philharmonic orchestras. Susan Young also took part in the Southwest Regional Orchestra, and Terri Milano was part of the Junior Dayton Philharmonic Orchestra.

Five members of the orchestra competed in OMEA solo and ensemble contest and received superior and excellent ratings. Lee Reichel, Susan Young, Liz Jones, and Terri Milano received superior and Lisa Degler, excellent ratings.

The orchestra started off the year with a concert for the PTA Open House. Other concerts include the Evening For Strings at Wright State, The Christmas program, Musical, Kinder Concert, and spring concert with the Pep Band.

Their year ended with a concert at Baccalaureate.

"Treble Choir better than ever": Mrs. Goss

According to director Mrs. Madonna Goss, Treble Choir was the best ever. Mrs. Goss based her praise on the group's cooperation and hardworking attitude.

The treble choir started off the year with a picnic at state Farm Park. This was for all choir members. They had everything from hot dogs to smores, and played a variety of games.

Through the year Treble Choir gave several concerts. One was at Crestview Nursing Home and another at Trinity Retirement Center. The choir also took part in the Christmas and spring programs at school.

For the first time ever, the choir held a Christmas carolling party. It was held at Debbie Moorman's house. They went carolling in below freezing weather.

The year was ended with a banquet at Neil's Heritage House. This was the highlight of a year of dedicated work.

Band members participate in various activities

Each day about 100 students gathered to form the Fairmont East Concert Band. Besides participating in Concert Band many students had time for music related activities.

Twenty students from the band spent two class periods a week participating in the school orchestra. In addition to practicing for their own concerts, they also performed in the musical.

The Jazz Ensemble of 23 students performed for the winter play as well as their own performances. The Pep Band, which performed at many of the home basketball games, was comprised of several band members under the direction of Rick Dietrich.

Throughout the year approximately twenty-five students participated in solo and ensemble contests. Almost everyone participating received either superior or excellent ratings.

Besides preparing for their winter and spring concerts, the band also had the responsibility of performing at Graduation. The band was presented with a flag of Kettering at their winter concert by the Pilot Club of Kettering.

Despite the band's extremely limited funds, the band made it through the year with very few problems. As a matter of fact it was an above average year for the band.

New newspaper adviser replaces her husband

Mrs. Carol Tite took over the job of being EASTERN ECHOSES adviser from her husband, Mr. John Tite. Mr. Tite had been the newspaper adviser for thirteen years.

The newspaper published more editions than it had in previous years. The paper came out once every two weeks, instead of about once a month as it had in the past.

For the first time, all the typesetting for the paper was done at the school at a considerable savings in cost. Mrs. Tite and Cristy McElfresh did the typesetting on the Qyx Intelligent Typewriter, purchased toward the end of last year.

The biggest story of the year dealt with the forthcoming consolidation of East and West starting in 1983. From first announcement of the combining of the two schools to the final decision to locate the new school at the West facility, EASTERN ECHOES kept students abreast of developments.

Editor-in-chief for the paper was Cristy McElfresh. The other editors were Pam Regan, news; Eric Dietrich, feature and Greg Greathouse, sports.

Yearbook staff takes bright new look at '82

In order to improve on the quality of the 1981 yearbook, the '82 staff decided, among other things, to liven up its appearance with brighter colors and graphics. A definite theme, "Take a Look," was decided upon and carried out throughout the book. The cover, opening, closing, and dividing pages had bolder, brighter colors and lettering.

As always, the 33 staff members worked to finance the yearbook by selling advertising space to school organizations, parent patrons, and local businesses and professionals. Approximately $7000 was raised by ad selling, which took place shortly after school started in the fall.

The staff was headed by the editor-in-chief, Gwen Owen, and the managing editor, Joan McElfresh. Beth Zimmer was the assistant to the editors. Photographs were taken by staff photographers Russ Wilson and Dave Buckner, Mr. John Tite, yearbook advisor, and professional photographers from Logan Studios.

Being a member of the Falcon staff meant not only fun and interesting work, but also a lot of responsibilities in putting out a good book for the rest of the scool. Each staff member was in charge of one spread per deadline (usually four spreads for the year). This included writing copy for each spread, which meant interviewing teachers, coaches or students for information, getting a photographer, writing headlines and captions, and designing the layouts for each spread.

The managing editor was in charge of personnel, served as a consultant to the editor-in-chief, and was also responsible for her own spreads. The editor-in-chief's responsibilities included being in charge of the cover, design, title page, table of contents spread, and opening, closing, and dividing spreads.

Although being a staff member was a lot of fun, it was also serious work. If one person neglected his duties, it was obvious in the finished product. The 1982 staff, however, was determined to make their yearbook the best yet.

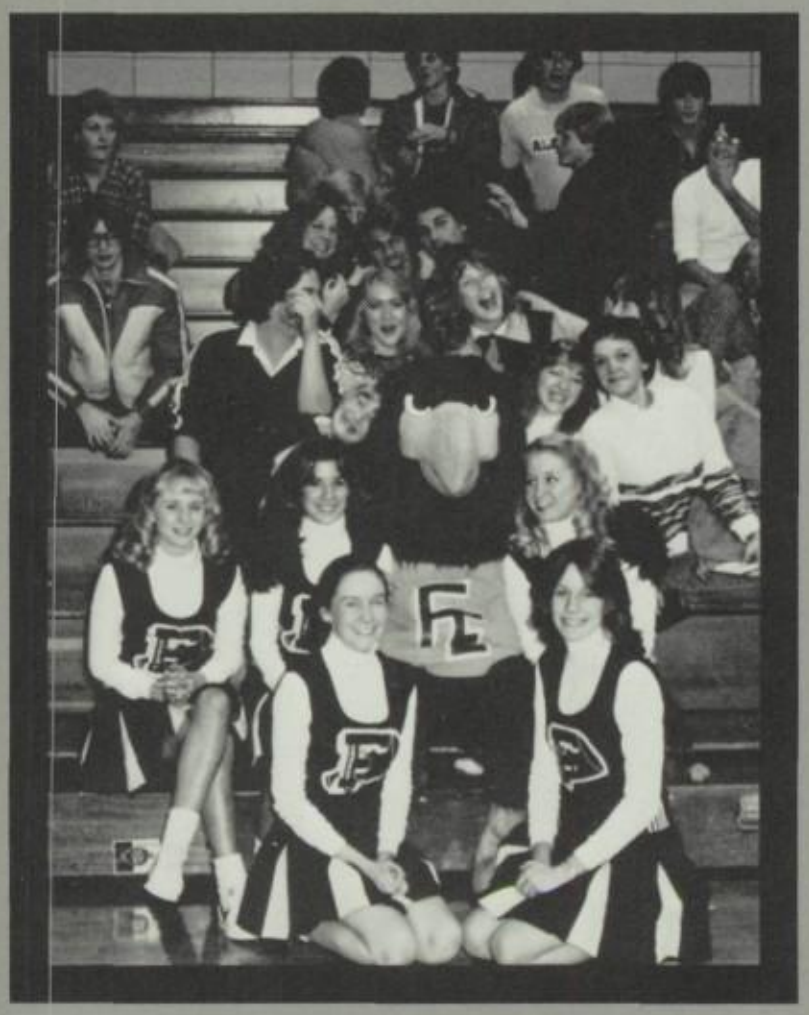
Take a look at people people



To really take a look at East is to take a look at the people who made Fairmont East live. From the Students to the administration, these were the individuals who made this year unique. Each had his own thoughts and opinions and talents, and each had the ability to make East what he wanted it to be. They gave the school their emotions, their wins and losses, their authority, and their knowledge.

They also made the memories. Someday they will look back and remember the friends, teachers, and experiences that were special to them. Each left his own impression behind. No matter how large or how small, each was as important as the others.

Decreasing enrollment causes many changes

During the past few years, there has been a drastic decrease in enrollments in the Kettering schools. Along with the drop in enrollment, schools now have too many buildings and too little money.

A sixty-member task force consisting of parents, teachers, and Kettering citizens was appointed to investigate the possible solutions to the problems that are plaguing the system.

Dr. John Goff, Superintendent of Schools, will review the suggestions made by the task force, then make a recommendation to the Board for its approval before any action is taken.

Dr. Goff presented a proposal to combine the two high school, Fairmont East and Fairmont West, into one high school. The new high school will be located on the West campus.

The proposal also includes combining Kennedy and Indian Riffle Junior High Schools into one on the Fairmont East campus, combining Oakcreek and Croftshire Elementary Schools at Kennedy, and combining Rosewood and Rolling Fields Elementary Schools at Indian Riffle.

The last class to graduate from Fairmont East will be the class of 1982-83. It will be the 19th class to graduate from East.

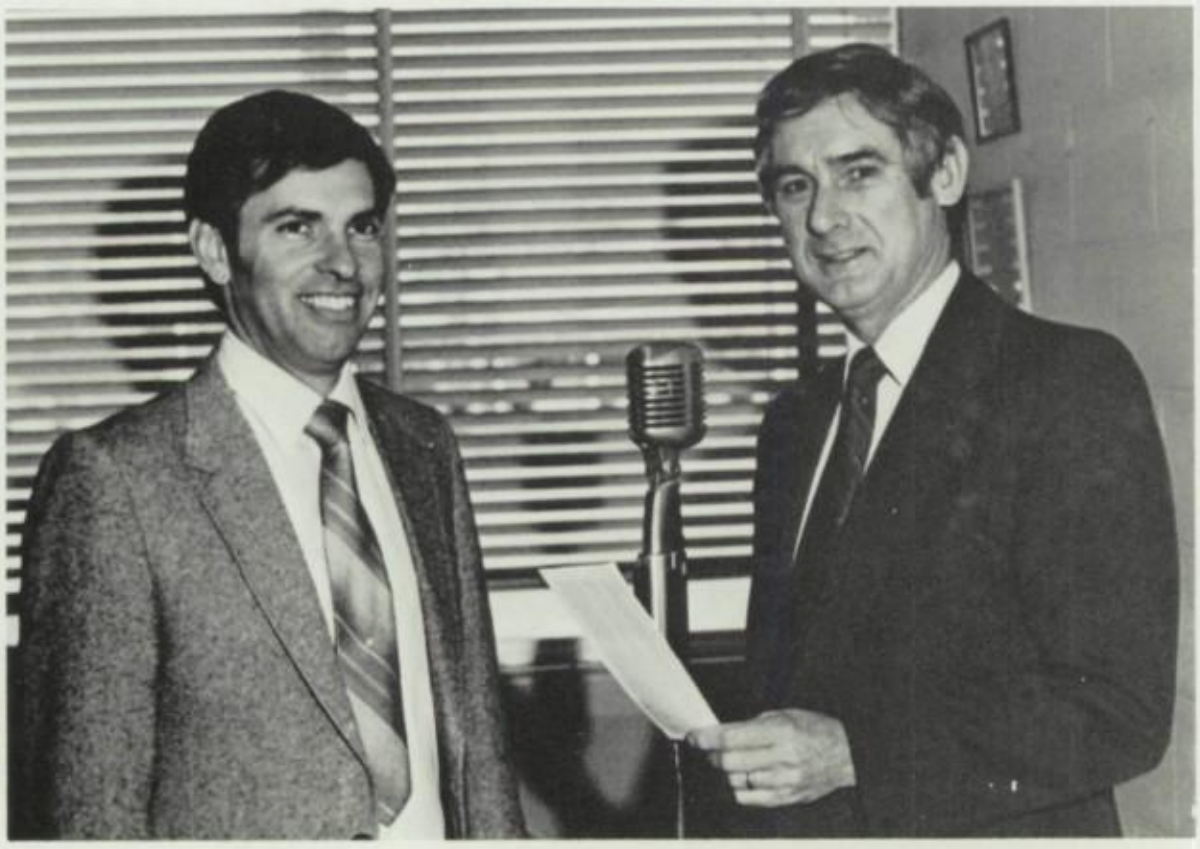
South unit at East to close in the near future



This year South Unit students were reassigned to homerooms either in Central or North Units for next year. Students who had Mrs. Griffith for a counselor were assigned to North. Mr. Shellenbarger's students went to Central.

Classes will be held in South and plans are to have all study halls in South. South Unit will no longer be an administrative unit, according to the principal, Mr. Hall, meaning there will not be a unit supervisor in that unit.

Mr. Gabbard, the present supervisor of South, will return to Central Unit as its supervisor. Mr. Durst, the present Central Unit Supervisor, will become assistant principal with an office in the main building.

Librarian Sharon Powers finds sailing fun

Mrs. Sharon Powers has been a librarian at Fairmont East for five years. She started out as a secondary teacher, but has been a librarian for a total of thirteen years.

In addition to being a librarian, Mrs. Powers has other hobbies and responsibilities. By playing an active role in the speech department, Mrs. Powers became the debate coach three years ago.

Because Mrs. Powers has one-quarter Chippewa Indian blood, she has attained another title at East. She is the only official card-carrying tribal faculty member.

Away from school, Mrs. Powers' favorite relaxation is sailing. The entire Powers family has adopted sailing as their favorite pastime. The only drawback is that in Dayton, she can't sail all year long.

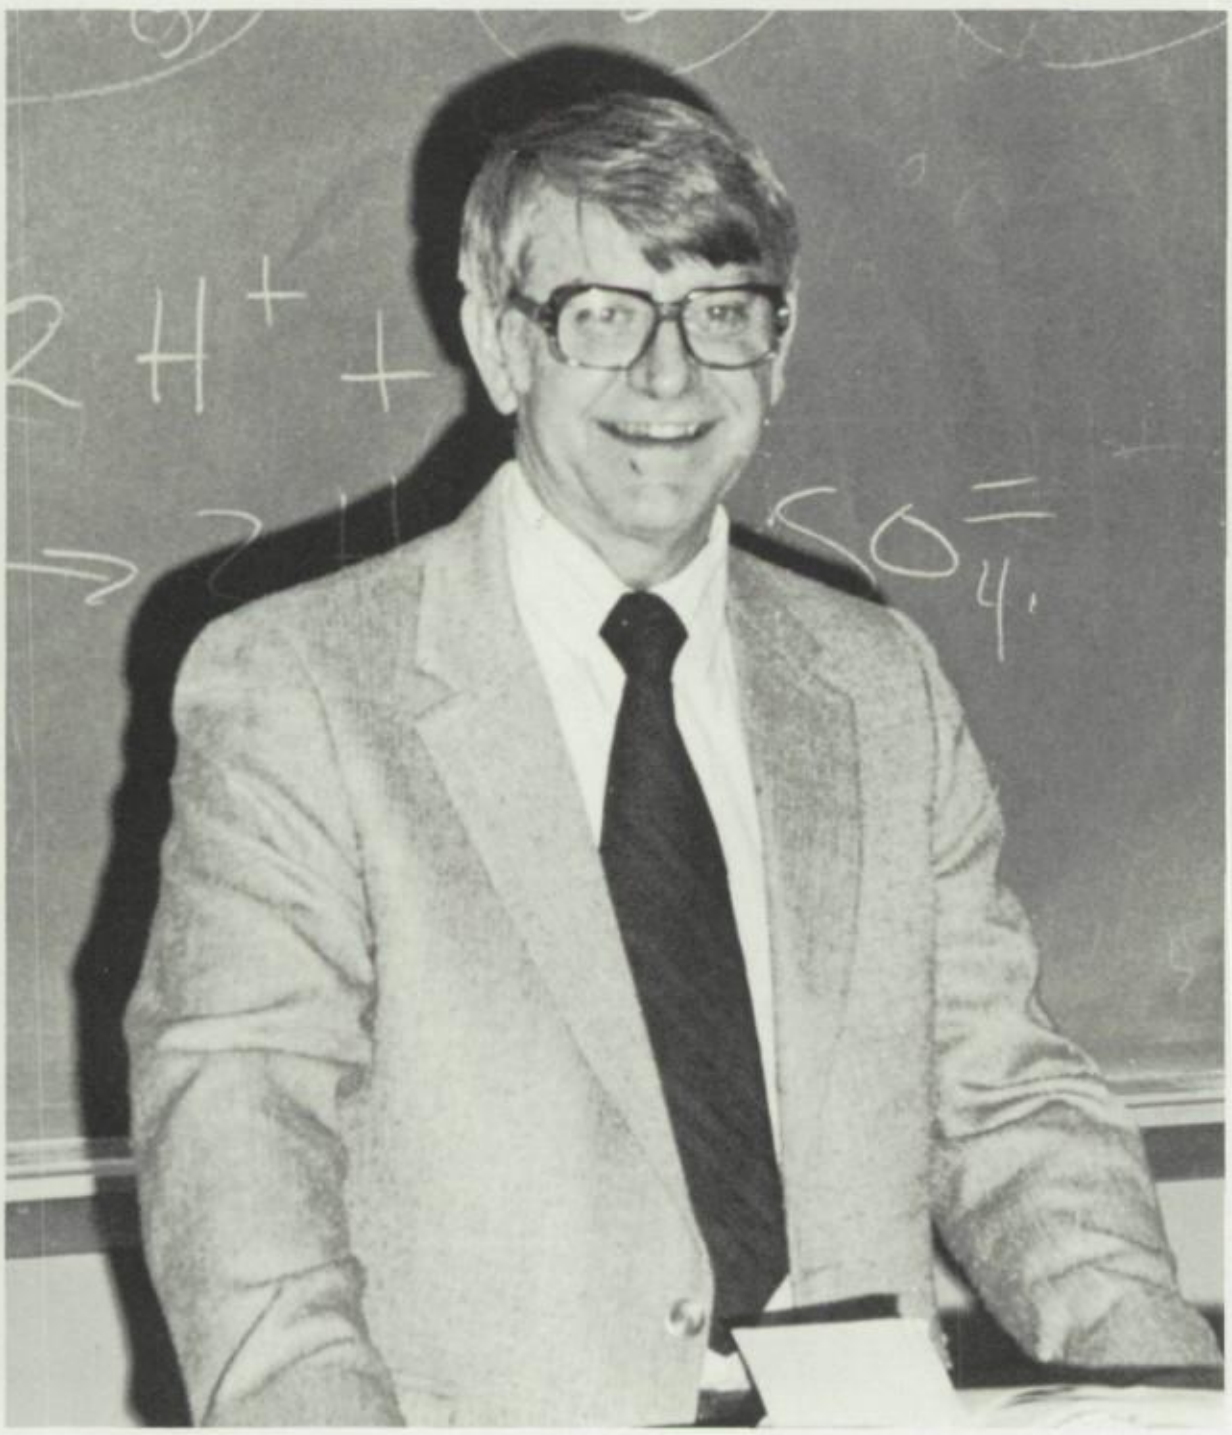
Mr. Gordon Blackmore retires from East



Mr. Gordon Blackmoore, who has taught in the Kettering School system for 25 years, retired at the end of the school year. Mr. Blackmoore has been at East since its innception 19 years ago. He spent the first nine as South Unit supervisor, and the last ten as a chemistry teacher. He also taught at Fairmont before coming to East.

Mr. Blackmoore said that the most memorable part of his teaching career is "dealing with the many different personalities of my students; that's what makes it all worthwhile." Mr. Blackmoore also added that, "It has been a great experience watching East grow from nothing into a great high school."

After retirement, Mr. Blackmoore plans to be self-employed in a carpentry business. He plans to remain in Kettering with his wife. We at Fairmont East wish Mr. Blackmoore the very best of luck.

Mr. Gordon Blackmoore lectures to his Chemistry class.

Mr. Hamilton spends year helping others

This was Mr. Tim Hamilton's first year at East, but his fourth year in teaching. He said that he finds it very enjoyable.

Mr. Hamilton received his teaching degree from Miami University, majoring in industrial education. After graduation he started graduate school for his master's degree.

He spent many hours after school helping students on silkscreening, and printing projects and as the photography club advisor. Mr. Hamilton said that he finds helping students very rewarding.

Although power mech. is his speciliaty, he taught graphic arts, and photography. He has taught everything in the industrial arts field except metals.

Mr. Hamilton's plans for the future are to continue teaching if possible, but if not the case, he would like to be teaching in the industry field.

SENIORS

Class council shows much school spirit

The Senior Class Council sponsored several events, including the Fall Play and the Christmas Dance, which was the largest ever attended. Mrs. Joyce Von Gruenigen was the council's supervisor.

In preparation for the Fall Play, seniors sold tickets, ushered, got publicity, and faculty sponsors. The music for the dance was provided by Charles Hipple with a J.D.-type setting, which proved to be very popular with the students.

In addition they sold Senior Class T-shirts which had the signature of every graduating senior on it.

Members of the Council consisted of Chairperson Mimi Park, Julie Gabbard, Cindy Cartmell, Dave Drerup, Karen McKelvey, Tina Fiorita, and Myoungnam Kim.

Students enjoy entertainment by local band

A local band, made up with East students Mark Kussman, Chris Decker, Mike Smith, Eric Delphenich and including Rick Johnson and Tom Xarhoulacos, have been entertaining students at East all year.

The band's popularity has grown stronger through their participation at local events. They were one of five bands which appeared at a concert type setting at Forrest Park Arena in March this year. The band also appears regularly at student parties upon request.

With Mark at lead guitar, Chris on guitar and vocals, Tom at bass, Mike playing drums, Rick at vocals and Eric on sound, the band is very popular and has good potential.

Although the band still does not have a name, they hope to come to an agreement on one in the near future. They have gone from many, such as Inebrious Illussion.

Steve Suhr enjoys rifle shooting as a hobby

After only three years of competitive rifle shooting, Steve Suhr is an Ohio state champion. Steve says that the most enjoyable aspects of shooting are "that it is very relaxing, plus I get to travel and meet people from all over the country." Steve won the 16-21 age M-14 rifle championship last fall.

In addition to shooting, Steve participated as a student trainer at East. He worked seven sport seasons during his three years at Fairmont East. Steve plans to attend college on a training scholarship.

Steve has also done very well in school. He travels to Centerville every day to take his vocational courses in law enforcement. Despite all this, Steve maintains high grades.

North junior devotes most time to NFL

Paula Burgess, a North Unit junior, participated in various school activities at East this past year. Most of her time was devoted to the National Forensic League where she competed in debate. Paula did find time, however, to be an active member of the Spanish Club. During her sophomore year, she took on the responsibility of being the club's president.

Last year, Paula played on the softball team, and this year she chose to be a Hockey Honey. With her various involvements, Paula has still managed to be listed on the honor roll.

In order to gain some political experience, Paula ran for a position on the Associated Student Body. She was elected, but she will not take her position on the senate until her senior year.

Paula's ambition is to become a lawyer, or to be politically involved in some way.

Lisa Roberts involved in variety of activites

Junior Lisa Roberts has been involved in many different activities at East. She has been on the volleyball, basketball, and softball teams during her sophomore year. Due to a back injury, though, she had to discontinue playing volleyball and basketball but has been able to continue with varsity softball, playing second base. Since Lisa favors softball, she plays with various teams during the summer months.

Business is a field in which Lisa has a high interest. She was in the Future Business Leaders of America Club during her junior year and also a very active member. In district competition she placed third in Accounting I and third in Business Communications. Lisa went on to place third in Business Communications at the state competition.

Lisa has been in Varsity F and the Fellowship of Christian Athletes for the past two years here at East. During her sophomore year, she was the social chairperson for Spanish Club. Lisa enjoys playing the flute and has been in band since the fourth grade.

With all these activities Lisa has participated in, she has been able to maintain a 3.8 grade point average. She has made the high honor roll every year at East.

After graduation, Lisa hopes to attend Miami University. She plans to pursue a career in the accounting field.

Kim Croll works to the beat of the organ

Junior, Kim Croll's fascination and dedication with playing the organ has many rewards in store. She began playing the organ at the age of five and has continued studying it for eleven years.

Through her involvement with music and the organ she has acquired a teaching job with two students and gets offers for many other jobs. She also uses her talent in many other unusual ways, such as playing at fairs, being a demonstrator for organs in stores, and playing for her church.

A talent like Kim's can pay off by way of playing for weddings, receptions, funerals, and even horse races. Kim gains much experience through contests and plans to enter into a contest at Fitzsimmons hoping to win herself at trip to Europe.

In addition to this special talent, she is also very active with her hobbies, which are horseback riding, painting, and drawing. Kim's devotion to her work shines through by her outstanding attendance of no absences since kindergarten.

With the interest Kim has in music she plans to move to California after her graduation in 1983 and launch a career dealing with performance and demonstration of the organ.

Annual Father-Daughter Dance big success

The Sophomore Class Council, which is composed of all girls this year, sponsored the second annual Father-Daughter Dance. The dance took place in the South gym and was attended by 140 couples.

Each girl of the council had a certain area that she was in charge of, such as invitations, decorations, favors, and refreshments. They arranged for the "Dixie Mountain Stompers" to perform during the break of the disc jockey. The music was provided by Chuck Hipple.

All in attendance had a fun time and the council felt that the dance was a huge success. Members of the class council include: Michelle Kellis, chairperson; Jenny Fecher, secretary; Amy Duerr, treasurer; Tara Marcum; Marcia Herman; Cheryl Miller; and Donna Payne.

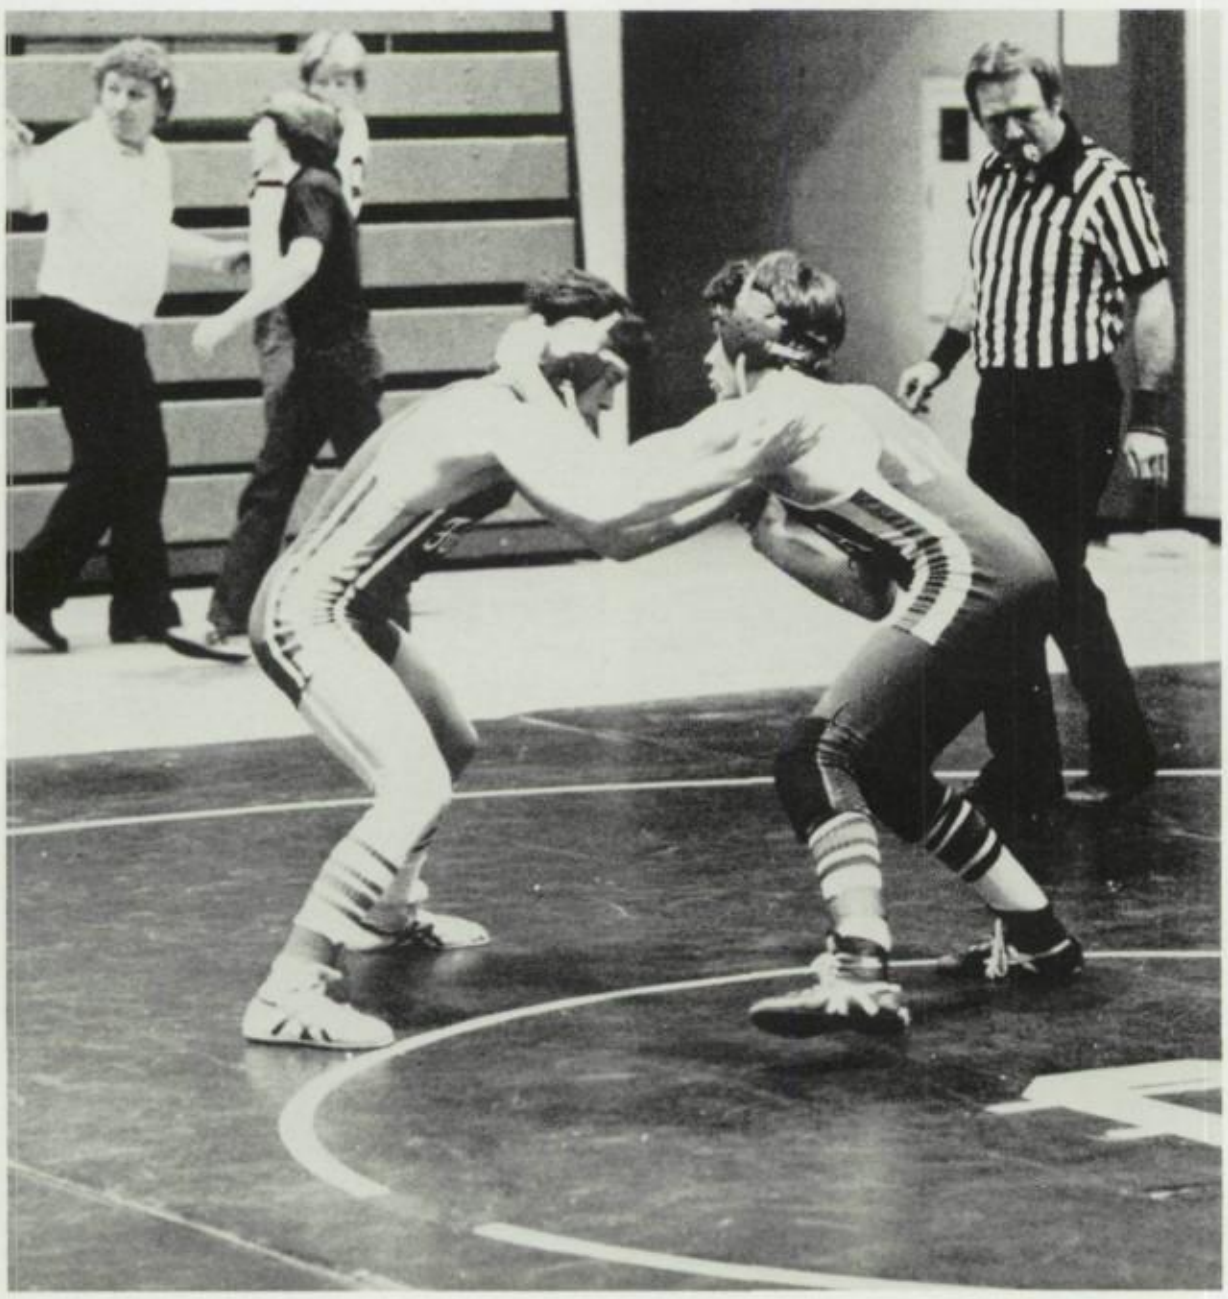
Bob Purvis makes varsity wrestling team



Bob Purvis, through a lot of hard work, earned a spot on the varsity wrestling team. He wrestled in the 126 lb. weight class and finished with a respectable 12-14 record, considering the majority of his opponents were juniors and seniors.

His season highlights included a 13-6 decision over West and a fourth place finish in the St. Xavier tournament. Bob is also a member of the Falcon football team.

In the off season, he wrestles for the Wright State Wrestling Club. He also wrestles in as many tournaments as he can. Most recently Bob finished first out of 22 wrestlers in the W.S.U. open.

Kellie Johnson gets lead in spring musical

Kellie Johnson, a sophomore from Indian Riffle, has been involved in extracurricular activities since junior high. She was on the track team for three years and was also on the speech team. During this time, Kellie also took dancing and piano lessons which prepared her for the activities she has taken part in at East.

When Kellie came to Fairmont East, she wasted no time in becoming involved. Because of her training in dance and music, Kellie chose to invest the majority of her time in the music department. Her first year she was chosen to be a member of the select show choir, the Falconaires, and was also a member of the concert choir. Kellie also competed in the ensemble category of the OMEA contest and received two superior ratings.

Kellie's musical talent became apparent when she was cast as a lead in the 1982 spring musical even though she was just a sophomore. Kellie portrayed the character of Maria in, "The Sound of Music", and of this experience she said, "Playing Maria in 'The Sound of Music' gave me a sense of responsibility that I can apply to the rest of my life." Kellie enjoyed this experience and plans to participate in future musicals.

After she completes her schooling, Kellie wants to become a performing artist in the field of acting and singing. If Kellie remains as active in this pursuit as she has been at Fairmont East, she is sure to attain this goal.

Sophomore Susie Gerhard is involved

If it was at East, Susie was involved. She's been in cross country since eighth grade. She helped the varsity team place first in districts and fifth in state. Susie was also on East's track team, running the mile, half mile, and the two mile relay.

Susie was involved in the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. Last year, she was a junior varsity basketball cheerleader. Next year she will be captain of the wrestling cheerleaders.

Susie was on the speech team and was a member of NFL. She was also a senator in ASB and has been elected to the junior class council.

She still had time for hobbies. She enjoys swimming and has been a member of Crestwood's swim team since she was five.

Even with all her activities, Susie still held a 4.0 grade point average. She was in enriched math, english, and science.

Football, baseball keep Tom Haberstro busy

Sophomore Tom Haberstro came to East from Kennedy Junior High and wanted to play football. He tried out for the team and made it. He played guard for the 1981-1982 Falcons. They practiced a lot, and Tom said that it was worth it. Tom is planning to try out his junior year.

In March the baseball tryouts began and Tom decided to try out for this, also. Tom made the baseball team. Tom has had a lot of practice in baseball because he plays in the summer leagues and has for a long time. In these leagues Tom pitches and plays field, which is where he plays for East.

Tom's summer activities include fishing, golf, swimming, and basketball. During spring break he went deep sea fishing in Florida. When its too cold to play football or his other activities, Tom heads for the Racquetball courts and indoor tennis.

When there is snow on the ground Tom takes off to Cesars Creek or Indian Lake with neighbors to snowmobile, and water skis in the summer. Tom is a very active sophomore at East and will help out the sports departments that he is in.

RIGHT: With dreams of someday being in the big leagues, Tom Haberstro tries on a Cincinnati Reds uniform shirt.

East activities keep Mellisa Minard busy

Unless you are involved, sophomore year can somtimes be a frustrating and boring year. But with all of her extracurricular activities, Mellisa Minard certainly didn't have to worry about that.

Mellisa has a deep interest in music and is a member of Treble Choir. She was also a singer in the spring musical "The Sound of Music".

Mellisa also enjoys dancing. She has had nine years of dance instruction which includes jazz, tap, and ballet. Mellisa was also a member of the Debutantes.

Besides being involved in Debutantes, Mellisa was a member of German club and Computer club known as the explorers. In this club she learned about the different jobs offered in the computer industry and how to run them.

Mellisa also participated in the ASB nominating convention in which she gave a speech.

Her favorite hobbies are dancing, horseback riding, swimming, and softball.

Even with all of these extracurricular activities, she still maintains a high grade point average.

It isn't easy . . .
This thing called life.
Plans don't always work out the way they're supposed to and misfortune sometimes clouds the horizon.
But . . . no matter how lonely
the morning sun becomes we always have to remember that it's up to us —
We're the ones . . .
that have to push
the clouds away.
